It’s no secret that the foodie culture has erupted within the last decade. The prevalence of social media and renewed concern in what ingredients are being consumed has led to a culture that is interested in food as something more than nourishment. Keeping those things in mind, some restaurateurs have opted out of the traditional brick-and-mortar location and sought a different approach to “fast food.” Tupelo has embraced the food truck culture and currently has three great options available on any given day and we’re certain there are more on the way!

Elvis Presley Birthplace & Museum
Held the first weekend in June, the festival celebrates our most famous native son with music, food, and fun in Downtown Tupelo. Visit www.tupeloelvisfestival.com for more information.

The Elvis Exhibit at the Tupelo Automobile Museum includes a car that Elvis gave away and 33 original Elvis movie posters.
Tupelo is host to many special events throughout the year. We celebrate, commemorate, and cultivate festivals based on everything you can imagine. One would be hard-pressed not to find something in our eclectic lineup to please their senses. Below is just a smattering (now, that’s a Southern word meaning just a tinch) of what we have to offer. You can count on our calendar to be filled with a variety of things reaching from Pioneer Days at the Natchez Trace Parkway to a live theater performance or an outstanding concert in our 10,000-seat arena. For a full listing, visit www.tupelo.net.
Tupelo is proud to offer a shopper’s paradise with a diverse collection of one-of-a-kind shops, outlet stores, pottery shops, antique shops, unique bookstores, consignment boutiques, and a regional mall. Three of our most distinct shopping areas are historic Downtown Tupelo, Midtown Shopping District, and the area surrounding The Mall at Barnes Crossing, but the shopping is great all over, so hit all the nooks and crannies, and you are sure to find a shop you love.

Downtown Tupelo

From unique one-of-a-kind specialty stores to the corner department store that has been in business for over 100 years, Downtown Tupelo is a “MUST” on your list of shopping destinations. Locally owned and operated, our downtown businesses offer a shopping experience that you will remember and enjoy for many days and years to come. In fact, in most of our establishments, the owner will be on hand to help you with your selections and choices.

In addition to the fun historic elements of Downtown Tupelo, you will be pleased to find eclectic gifts, unique artwork, novelty items, antiques, designer clothing, accessories, and so much more. Plus, there are several restaurants intertwined to round out your shopping experience. With all the convenience of parking and walking and the nostalgia of a traditional downtown, Downtown Tupelo offers a pleasurable shopping experience, like Tupelo Hardware where Gladys bought Elvis’ first guitar, that you are sure to enjoy. For more information on Downtown Tupelo, visit www.tupelomainstreet.com.

Midtown Shopping District

Tupelo’s Midtown District offers a variety of 24 locally-owned businesses nestled in an established shopping destination just off Main Street and west of Crosstown. Shoppers will delight in gifts and full-service florals, wedding attire, and jewelry in addition to clothing boutiques, interior design, and furnishings, outstanding antiques, and health, beauty, and fitness options including everything for the golfer. Midtown District is also home to a full-service pharmacy, printer, a complex of medical and professional services, and a bank. You can find more about this established shopping district by visiting their Facebook page.
Barnes Crossing Shopping District

A super regional mall and strip centers in the surrounding area provide over 1.5 million square feet of retail space that is still growing. The Mall at Barnes Crossing is a super regional shopping mall located northeast of downtown Tupelo, Mississippi. It is home to over 90 specialty shops, five anchor store tenants, an eight-screen Cinemark movie theater, and a 600-seat food court. The mall is anchored by Belk, Belk Men & Home, JCPenney, Barnes and Noble, Sears, and Dick’s Sporting Goods, and includes small shops like Charming Charlie, LOFT, Coldwater Creek, American Eagle, Gymboree, and Ulta.

Market Center, an outdoor strip shopping center west of the mall, consists of anchors Old Navy, GAP Outlet, and Shoe Carnival. Another outdoor shopping center, Barnes Crossing Plaza, lies north of the mall and includes anchors Toys “R” Us, TJ Maxx, and Hobby Lobby. Northwest of The Mall at Barnes Crossing is King’s Crossing development anchored by Kohl’s and Ross. Southwest of The Mall at Barnes Crossing is the Tupelo Commons development, home to Malco Theatres, Best Buy, Lowes, Ashley Furniture, Hancock Fabrics, Olive Garden, and Chili’s.

The Barnes Crossing District is also home to big box retailers Sam’s Club, Walmart Supercenter, PetSmart, Home Depot, Kroger, Jo-Ann Fabrics, and Bed, Bath & Beyond. For more information on The Mall at Barnes Crossing, visit www.barnescrossing.com.
Girl Friend Getaways

Grab your favorite girlfriends, put on the appropriate road trip music (Elvis, of course) and head to Tupelo, Mississippi! What lies ahead of you are three great days of girl time filled with Elvis, great food, and the time you need to get back to the real you. You’ll head home rested, relaxed, and pampered, and will take a little of Tupelo with you and forever put a little Elvis in everything you do!

It’s about you - you’ve got no time for any guy - even Elvis. Use the time on the road trip to Tupelo to cast all your worries away and arrive in town with an “it’s all about me mindset.” You can fly solo on this one or bring your best girlfriend, but there’s no drama allowed. From massage and makeup lessons to shopping and dinner just the way you want it, this trip is designed to get you focused and feeling great about yourself.

Romantic Escapes

Get back in touch with the love of your life by getting away from your real life. Jump in a car and head to Tupelo where it’s more than just the end of the week, it’s the start of an “us” revolution. The next few days are filled with activities designed to get you back in the groove including a couples massage, the sexy music of Elvis, rooftop dinners and private dance lessons. You’ll leave with a connection - to Tupelo and to each other!

So, romance may mean a little something different for the two of you. You don’t have to spend every waking moment together to be on a romantic getaway. Let’s play it like this - golf, a cigar bar, and the Tupelo Automobile Museum may keep him occupied while you shop, antique, and spa the day away. But, the important thing is you come back together for a great dining experience and a little live music to end the night. Remember, it’s not how you get there, it’s who brings you home!
Guy Trips

A Hole in One

Start this guy revolution on the golf course where you are required to shut out the stress of the real world for at least 18 holes. After you’ve worked up a sufficient appetite, have lunch like a real man - feed your pie hole at one of the outstanding food trucks serving up everything from creole to BBQ. Next, it’s on to one of our great fishing holes to get your hook wet. Finish the day with dinner and conversation at one of Tupelo’s fine restaurants.

Man Among Men

Sometimes you just need to get away and do manly things among your man friends and Tupelo is the perfect place to get your man card punched. Start with a hike along an 8,000 year old Indian trail, followed by a friendly competition at the shooting range. Then on to the manliest of meals – good Southern BBQ before you check out over 100 cars that span automotive history. Round out the day with a stop at the cigar bar before heading to live music and dinner served at what used to be a livery stable. What could be more manly than that?

Family Vacation

Family Safari

Sometimes a family just needs an adventure together and a Tupelo safari fits the bill. Start at the Tupelo Buffalo Park and Zoo where you can board a Monster Bison Bus and hand-feed the buffalo herds grazing throughout the park. Move on just three miles down the road for a picnic in Ballard Park, a serene and beautiful setting that features a lake, playground, and walking track. Although ducks are about the most exotic animal you’ll find here, the rare breed you’ll be searching for is the relaxed family spending some quality time together. Continue your explorations at the Oren Dunn City Museum located in Ballard Park and unearth the true history of Tupelo’s colorful past. A trip to HealthWorks! Kids Museum has you exploring your health and how you can be a fitter family. You don’t have to be far from home to make a memory that lasts a lifetime!

So, you’ve got a little “me” time after a hard day’s work and you’re looking for something to help you unwind. Here are a few suggestions to enjoy your time on the road.

Scenic Drive

How about a little more time “on the road?” But, it’s not any road, it’s a national scenic byway and an All-American Road with plenty of opportunities to commune with nature. The Natchez Trace Parkway offers a reprieve from the world and will allow you to get revived for the coming day’s business. Historic sites and walking trails along the way offer a glimpse into the Parkway’s history.

Shopping

When’s the last time you had a few hours to spend in a dressing room? Take advantage of it. Most stores offer free shipping to a store near you! You won’t even have to haul it home.

Live Music

Okay, it’s a no-brainer – YOU MUST SEEK OUT MUSIC while in the birthplace of Elvis! Ask a local – we all keep our ear to the ground for the beat of the drum.

Access our live music listings by visiting www.tupelo.net on your smartphone or you can scan the QR Code below.

Dinner and a Movie

No compromises! It’s your choice – where to eat, what movie to see, butter on your popcorn or not! You’re on the road for business, but you can still have a little fun!

Trails

Life on the road can be hard on the waistline, so get out for some exercise. Elvis-themed guitars throughout Downtown Tupelo make it a fabulous place to get in a great walk while taking in the influence of the King of Rock and Roll. Also, check out the cross country trails on page 32.
ELVIS PRESLEY BIRTHPLACE

306 Elvis Presley Drive • 662-841-1245 • www.elvispresleybirthplace.com
Admission to some exhibits, others free

The humble two-room dwelling where Elvis Presley was born is the centerpiece of a 15-acre Elvis Presley Park that includes, among other exhibits, the “Elvis at 13” statue and Elvis’ childhood church. For more information on Elvis in Tupelo, see pages 4-6.

TUPELO AUTOMOBILE MUSEUM

1 Otis Boulevard • 662-842-4242 • www.tupeloauto.com • Admission

A collection of more than 100 cars valued above $6 million is displayed in a 120,000 square-foot facility. Exhibits range from a 19th century steam-powered vehicle to a 2008 Toyota Prius and include cars owned by Liberace and Elvis, and a rare Tucker. All are originals – except for a replica of the 1886 Benz. For car lovers and history buffs, this is a must-see museum. But, don’t pass up the museum if you’re neither one and just love American pop culture – there’s a DeLorean, a Domino’s pizza delivery car and “The Great Race” car straight from the movies! And for the shopper, there’s an unexpected gift shop featuring Mississippi art and more.
HEALTHWORKS! KIDS MUSEUM

219 South Industrial Road • 662-377-KIDS (5437) • www.healthworkskids.org

Admission

It’s a heady experience from the outset, when you are welcomed to the $5.3 million building by the Brain Theater, part of the Funtastic exhibit floor teeming with interactive displays that spread a contagion of learning through hands-on zaniness.

TUPELO BUFFALO PARK AND ZOO

2272 North Coley Road • 1-866-27-BISON (1-866-272-4766)

www.tupelobuffalopark.com • Admission

Exotic animals populate the park

What started out as a few buffalo on a cattle farm has quickly transformed into a herd of buffalo and over 300 exotic animals on a 200-acre park setting. More than 100,000 people come through the attraction each year to ride the monster bison bus, pet the farm animals, and revel in hand-feeding a pair of giraffes. Among the attractions are replicas of Chickasaw structures, a live pony carousel, party pavilions, trail rides, reptile exhibits, and a bird exhibit.
A 444-mile national scenic byway that runs from Natchez, Mississippi, to Nashville, Tennessee, the Natchez Trace Parkway began as a footpath for Native Americans 8,000 years ago. Offering a scenic, leisurely journey for motorists, cyclists, and hikers year-round, the Natchez Trace Parkway is a byway into the past. Parkway headquarters are located in Tupelo, and the Visitors Center offers a variety of exhibits, displays, and an orientation program. Information can also be found at www.scenictrace.com.

A 2,500 square foot interpretive exhibit laying out the history of the Battle of Tupelo/Harrisburg and the Battle of Brice’s Crossroads is located near a 1,200-acre battleground where the Battle of Brice’s Crossroads was fought. The Interpretive Center is a great place to begin to explore the last two stands made by soldiers in Mississippi during the Civil War. From the center, you can visit many sites interpreted throughout the region that lay out the two battles including battlefields, cemeteries, and trails.
In the telling of Tupelo’s history, the Oren Dunn Museum captures the essence of the American story in rural America. From a vintage village including an original dogtrot cabin to year-round educational programming, visitors at the museum are invited to relive the history of a community named the “First All-America City.”

Tupelo Veterans Museum, housed inside the city museum, displays a private collection compiled to remember the wars fought by Americans. Chronologically, the museum’s treasures begin with the Civil War and feature a document signed by Abraham Lincoln, a pistol, a soldier’s diary, and items soldiers carried in their pockets.

Operated by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the hatchery spawns fish to stock rivers, lakes, and reservoirs for restoration and for the benefit of anglers.
The Hills National Heritage Area covers a 30-county region affectionately known as the “Hill Country.” Culture is heavily influenced by the intersection of the Appalachian Region and the Mississippi Delta, and the Hills has its own cultural persona evident throughout the region. The center displays little-known facts about Mississippi legends and offers an abundance of information on members throughout the region. It’s your best stop to understand the Hills National Heritage Area.

Founded in 1925 by the same family that owns it today, Tupelo Hardware Co. played a pivotal role in music history. In January 1945, Gladys and Elvis Presley entered Tupelo Hardware to look for Elvis a 10th birthday present. The story goes that Elvis wanted a rifle, and being very protective of her young charge, Gladys refused. It is said that Elvis reacted quite loudly to the refusal, and a store employee and Presley family friend reached into a case and brought out a guitar and handed it to the boy, hoping to calm him down. Elvis loved the guitar and agreed to purchase it instead of the rifle.
This historic theatre is one of the finest live theatre facilities in the South.

This facility is noted for its impressive revolving exhibits and production of the annual GumTree Festival.

This 10,000-seat venue plays host to everything from major music events and public ice skating to meetings and trade shows.
The Mississippi Blues Trail marks an unforgettable journey in the land that spawned the single most important root source of modern popular music. Whether you’re a die-hard blues fan or a casual traveler in search of an interesting trip, you’ll find facts you didn’t know, places you’ve never seen, and you’ll gain a new appreciation for the area that gave birth to the blues. Tupelo is honored with two markers on the Mississippi Blues Trail.

Elvis Presley Birthplace - Elvis Presley revolutionized popular music by blending the blues he first heard as a youth in Tupelo with country, pop, and gospel. Many of the first songs Elvis recorded for the Sun Record label in Memphis were covers of earlier blues recordings by African-Americans, and he continued to incorporate blues into his records and live performances for the remainder of his career.

Shake Rag Community - located at the Tupelo Convention and Visitors Bureau Welcome Center Shake Rag, located east of the old M&O (later GM&O) railway tracks and extending northward from Main Street, was one of several historic African-American communities in Tupelo. By the 1920’s blues and jazz flowed freely from performers at Shake Rag restaurants, cafes, and house parties, and later from jukeboxes, while the sounds of gospel music filled the churches. Tupelo’s blues legacy is perhaps most widely known for its influence on a young Elvis Presley, who lived adjacent to the African-American neighborhoods of “Shake Rag” and “The Hill.”

Country music is a direct descendant of the Blues—a music form that was born right here in Mississippi. To commemorate this important part of our rich heritage, Mississippi created the Mississippi Country Music Trail. Tupelo is honored with a marker on the trail located at the Elvis Presley Birthplace and titled “Elvis Country.” Raised on country music here in Tupelo, first introduced as “The Hillbilly Cat,” then by RCA Victor as “the hottest new name in country music,” Elvis Presley’s revolutionary musical mix always had country as a key ingredient. Appearing on the country charts over 50 times, Presley’s music pushed traditional country toward the modernizing Nashville Sound, which followed the pop, if not the rock ‘n roll path he’d fashioned. Elvis would record the country songs he loved throughout his career.
Tupelo has more than 140 great places to eat. Located throughout the city, you'll find almost every kind of cuisine from all-American casual to the finest of dining. No matter what brings you here, take time to enjoy a meal and experience Tupelo's famous hospitality served up by some of the nicest people in the business.
